INTRODUCTION

The Checklist provides an overview of upwards of 600 medieval, Byzantine, and Renaissance manuscripts (chiefly codices) in the Princeton University Library's Department of Rare Books and Special Collections, including The Scheide Library. The Checklist also serves as a guide to available printed and online cataloging, as well as digital images of Manuscripts are listed by holding unit, collection, and sequential manuscript number or shelfmark. Links are given to provide free online access to well over 2,000 digital images of miniatures, illustrations, and selected diagrams and decoration in the manuscripts. In addition, links are provided without charge for manuscripts in the Library that have been digitized since the 1990s and now available in the Digital Princeton University Library (DPUL), as well as digitized grayscale microfilm of Middle English and other manuscripts at Princeton. Images (with descriptions) are also available in the Index of Christian Art (Index of Medieval Art) and in ArtStor, both subscription-based services. In time, JStor will be providing another access point for these images.

For more information about holdings of the Manuscripts Division or to make an appointments, contact Don C. Skemer, Curator of Manuscripts, dcskemer@princeton.edu For the Scheide Library, contact Paul Needham, Scheide Librarian, needham@princeton.edu For the Cotsen Children's Library, contact Andrea Immel, Cotsen Librarian, aimmel@princeton.edu For information concerning imaging and permission to publish and/or broadcast, contact the Public Services staff, rbsc@princeton.edu

The largest number of items is in the Manuscripts Division, including 172 in the Robert Garrett Collection, 58 in the Grenville Kane Collection, 23 in the Robert Taylor Collection, and more than 250 in the Princeton Collection of Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts, an open collection that grows by gift and purchase. Also found in these collections are more than 200 separate miniatures, leaves, and cuttings, individually identified in published catalogs. The Scheide Library, whose bequest to Princeton by William H. Scheide, Class of 1936, was announced in February 2015, has upwards of 100 manuscripts. There are also 9 in the Cotsen Children's Library; and a small number of other manuscripts in other manuscript series or bound with printed books. Holdings range in date from the 8th to 16th centuries. While Latin texts are predominant, there are excellent holdings of vernacular manuscripts in Middle English, French (including Occitan), Italian, Spanish, Catalan, German, and Dutch or Flemish. The Manuscripts Division has one Icelandic manuscript and three Hebrew manuscripts from Italy and Spain. The Scheide Library has two Old English manuscripts (Blickling Homilies; Will of Aethelgifu), both available digitally in the DPUL. The Manuscripts Division and the Scheide Library have Byzantine and post-Byzantine Greek manuscripts, which are complemented by C0879, post-Byzantine bound manuscripts dating from 1601 to the early 19th century (individually cataloged in the online catalog), including subjects such as theology, philosophy, canon law, and Greek Orthodox liturgical music written in modern Byzantine notation. Approximately a third of Western medieval, Byzantine, and Renaissance manuscripts in the Princeton University Library are illuminated or illustrated, accounting for about 2,000 miniatures, historiated initials, and other significant examples.

Two printed catalogs (2010, 2013) have been published through the cooperation of the Princeton University Library and the Department of Art and Archeology, and distributed by Princeton University Press. These catalogs provide full textual and codicological descriptions of western medieval, Byzantine, and Renaissance manuscripts, with extensive bibliography and hundreds of color plates. Bibliographic records for these manuscripts are gradually being added to the Princeton University Library's online catalog, while all manuscripts acquired by gift or purchase since 2013 are being individually described with brief bibliographic records in the online CATALOG: <https://catalog.princeton.edu/>

(1) Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Princeton University Library. By Don C. Skemer; incorporating contributions by Adelaide Bennett, Jean F. Preston, William P. Stoneman and the Index of Christian Art (Princeton, N.J.: Department of Art and Archaeology and the Princeton University Library, in association with Princeton University Press, 2013). 2 volumes (I: xxv, 483 pages, 88 pages of plates; II: xix, 558 pages, 40 pages of plates): color illustrations; 30 cm. This catalog covers the holdings of the Manuscripts Division and Cotsen Library. Scheide is not included. Copies may be purchased directly from Princeton University Press; <http://press.princeton.edu/titles/10015.html>

(2) Greek Manuscripts at Princeton, Sixth to Nineteenth Century: A Descriptive Catalogue. By Sofia Kotzabassi and Nancy Patterson Ševčenko; with the collaboration of Don C. Skemer (Princeton, N.J.: Department of Art and Archaeology and Program in Hellenic Studies, Princeton University, in association with Princeton University Press, 2010). xxix, 304 pages, [174] pages of plates of color and black-and-white plates; 31 cm. This catalog covers the holdings of the Manuscripts Division and the Scheide Library, as well as the Princeton University Art Museum and Princeton Theological Seminary. Copies may be purchased from Princeton University Press: <http://press.princeton.edu/titles/9055.html>

Links to the digital images in this Checklist are accessible free-of-charge for reference purposes, and have been put online for those researchers who do not have access to the thousands of images in the Index of Christian Art [Index of Medieval Art] and ArtStor, both of which are subscription-based. Imaging services and photoduplication are readily available since online reference images are generally insufficient resolution for publication purposes. Please contact the curator responsible or the Public Services staff (rbsc@princeton.edu). Description follows the naming conventions of the Index of Christian Art, which was responsible for all of the photography. In accordance with Index practice, the naming convention indicates what the image covers (whole page, top half, bottom half, details). These images are also available in ArtStor. The Department of Rare Books and Special Collections digital files, slides, transparencies, and other forms of photoduplication for these manuscripts.

Not included in the Checklist are the Library's five late antique codices in Greek, Coptic, and Syriac. (1) Greek Old Testament, Ezekiel, xix.12–xxxix.29. 21 leaves or 42 pages of a papyrus codex (Scheide M 97). Facsimile edition: A. C. Johnson, H. S. Gehman, E. H. Kase, Jr, The John H. Scheide Biblical Papyri Ezekiel, Princeton University Studies in Papyrology 3, 1938. (2) Coptic New Testament, Gospel of St. Matthew, with a bilingual Greek-Coptic doxology, 233 folios, late 4th or 5th century (Scheide M144). Facsimile edition: Hans-Martin Schenke, ed., Das Matthäus-Evangelium im mittelägyptischen Dialekt des Koptischen (Codex Scheide) (Berlin: Akademie Verlag, 1981). (3) Coptic New Testament, Gospel of St. Luke, 55 folios, 6th century CE (Garrett Coptic MS. 1). (4) Theodore of Mopsuestia (ca. 350-428), Commentary on Psalms, 21 parchment leaves, late 5th or early 6th century (Garrett Syriac MS. 7). Recently identified by Sebastian Brock and digitized in the Princeton University Digital Library; facsimile edition forthcoming by Lucas Van Rompay. (5) Coptic educational text, 6th century CE. Facsimile edition: Scott Bucking, Practice Makes Perfect: P. Cotsen–Princeton 1 and the Training of Scribes in Byzantine Egypt (Los Angeles, CA: Cotsen Occasional Publications, 2011). The Princeton Papyri Collections, including late antique Greek and Latin documents, are described in the Princeton University Library Papyrus Home Page, and as they are digitized in DPUL (Digital Princeton University Library). Two Latin papyri from Ravenna are cited in the present Checklist because they had been assigned Garrett and Scheide manuscript numbers.

The Checklist has the occasional document that was assigned a manuscript number in one of the collections. But there are thousands of additional documents in the Manuscripts Division, which are beyond the scope of the Checklist. These include the John Hinsdale Scheide Collection (C0704), which is especially strong for Italian notarial documents and includes a substantial portion of the archives of an Italian monastery, S. Vittore della Chiuse, near Ancona, from the 10th to 15th centuries; Ernest Cushing Richardson Collection (C0341), which includes notarial documents from northern Italy; and Charles Carroll Marden Collection of Spanish Documents (C0279), which includes hundreds of documents from the cities and environs of Burgos and Alarcón, including the Libro de Cabildo of the Alarcón town council for the 1550s. The fastest growing area is English documents in the Bruce C. Willsie Collection of British Sigillography (C0953), which includes medieval, early modern, and modern royal charters bearing the Great Seal of the Realm, from King John to the present, as well as royal seals without charters and private seal matrices, from Roman Britain through the Middle Ages. The Manuscripts Division also holds a number of 16th-century Mesoamerican manuscripts, chiefly written in K'iche' Maya, Nahuatl, and other indigenous languages of the Americas, but also including Latin and Spanish. For information about these collections, one should consult the Princeton University Library catalog at <https://catalog.princeton.edu/> or Finding Aids, <http://findingaids.princeton.edu/>

Garrett MS. 17–23: Armenian.

De Ricci described these seven Armenian manuscripts among Garrett medieval and Renaissance manuscripts. They were later described with De Ricci numbers in Avidis Krikor Sanjian, A Catalogue of Medieval Armenian Manuscripts in the United States (Berkeley, CA: University of California Press, 1976), pp. 392–417. In order to resolve duplicate numbering and confusion in shelving, these manuscript have now been reshelved as part of the proper series within the Robert Garrett Collection: that is, Garrett Armenian Manuscripts, nos. 1–7; followed by Garrett Armenian Manuscripts, nos. 8–11, 13–14. Note: Garrett Armenian Manuscript, no. 12, formerly Garrett Supplement no. 5 (Gospel miniature, 1311) is described in Sanjian, pp. 415–417, but has been missing since 1980. There are also a number of Princeton Armenian Manuscripts, in part described by Sanjian, pp. 418–422; and Armenian Gospels in the Scheide Library, M74, M80.

Garrett MS. 24: Alexander of Cyprus, Inventio crucis, in Georgian translation from the original Greek, in the hand of Ioannes Zosimus, St. Catherine's Monastery, Mount Sinai, 986. Palimpsest with Greek and Aramaic undertext from the Holy Land (Monastery of St. Sabas?), Byzantine Empire, ca. 500–825. UV photographs of palimpsested leaves on file.
